It's a marvelous advertisement of Tula. They've made a great work. They developed their speaking skills and they tried their role of the reporters.

---

Andy Noonan, 20:57
I've found that many students (worldwide) do not know how to speak of their own cities, countries, cultures-- this project forced them to learn about their own city. They'll be able

Liudmila Kukhareva, 20:57
students look pretty happy about what they are doing, they practiced their English outside the classroom

Tatiana Shkuratova, 20:57
1) speaking skills and the following ones are not language skills but appear to be important to carry out the presentation: team work skills, performing skills and analytical thinking skills

Tamara Kekeyeva, 20:57

students develop their language skills through such wonderful project, also learnt more about the city and are able to speak about it. Skills: public speaking skills, technology skills. Was in Tula 1970s, nice to see it again!
